More tolerance

From a certain time it can be easily observed, that sports tournaments, no matter on which level, began to rouse unhealthy and undesirable emotions. Others' weakness, difference and imperfection, ceased to be tolerated. Chauvinism in all its aspects – from racism to xenophobia, started to prevail. It alarmed many people, who began to create programmes and resolutions, aiming at elimination of these unwelcome occurrences from all spheres of life, also from sports. One of the most interesting proposals in this field is the BALLANCE 2006 programme, popularized by sports activists from Hessen, friends of the Wielkopolska Region. Through the organization of integration events around Europe, propagating tolerance towards those, who are weaker, younger and different, German sports activists want to obtain noticeable improvement of fans' and tourists' behaviour during 2006 Football World Championship in Germany. Today, the tireless booster of the above idea is our guest on this stadium. Mr Michael Glameyer, after his visit to our region in autumn, will evaluate everything, that is done by the Wielkopolska football activists to accomplish this laudable idea. We believe, that today's meeting, the part of The International Football Tournament „Poznańskie Koziółki – 2006” (Poznań Goals – 2006) is a small step in the right direction.
